

OPAL APPLES

TASTE THE OPAL DIFFERENCE Opal apples can't be compared to an everyday apple. These sunny fruits are like none other — with a beautiful appearance, distinctively crunchy texture, floral aroma and a sweet, tangy flavor. But one of the most incredible and natural features of this apple is that it does not brown after cutting. So an Opal a day will keep your salads — and your kids' lunchboxes — crisp and fresh.

The Opal brand apple was discovered in Europe in 1999. This new apple-flavor stems from a cross between a Golden Delicious and a Topaz. Over the last 12 years, Opal brand apple has been tested in 63 orchards throughout Europe and the Mediterranean. In March of 2010, it made its debut appearance in the United States grown exclusively by Ralph Broetje, Broetje Orchards in Washington State. Opal Brand apple is being marketed and distributed exclusively in North America by First Fruits Marketing of Washington.
