

WEST PAK | Founded in 1982 as a grower and shipper of California avocados, West Pak began operations from a small packing house in Fallbrook, which is considered the heart of the state's avocado growing region. Today, West Pak is a huge force in the avocado industry, with ripening and distribution centers strategically located throughout the domestic United States. Their extensive relationships with domestic and international growers, transportation logistics expertise, and ripening technology allows for year-round availability of quality avocados.

Baldor's partnership with West Pak avocados guarantees us Mexican-grown Hass avocados which are ripe and ready to use under their "Just-Ripe" program. West Pak also offers terrific green Haas avocados for those who want to do their own ripening.
