About Good Water Farms

At Good Water Farms, they believe that a plant-based diet is the key to a healthier future – and that microgreens are central to this shift. When cultivated using biodynamic farming techniques, these versatile, tasty greens benefit both the planet and its inhabitants. The first true leaves of an herb or vegetable, microgreens are cleaner, stronger and more flavorful than their traditional counterparts. Good Water's certification as one of the world's few certified Biodynamic microgreens farms.
