About Herve Mons

In 1964, Hubert Mons and his wife decided to sell cheese on the markets in and around Roanne, France. Throughout the 70's the company was booming, while they made their rounds in the countryside with their cheese van. In 1983, Hervé, the eldest son, after having worked for the greatest cheesemongers in Paris, set up the first fixed point of sale in the Halles Diderot in the Roanne city center. In the 90's his brother Laurent joined. This natural partnership allowed the company to grow and start to export with over 20 countries. Their love and devotion for the craft of cheese allowed them to win the award Meilleur Ouvrier de France (Best Artisan Craftsman of France) and voted 'Cheesemongers of the Year' by the gastronomy guide Pudlo France.
