About Village Farms

Village Farms growers are the best in the business... smart, experienced and passionate. Most come from farming families and have been honing their craft their whole lives. You can tell they love what they do by the twinkle in their eye come harvest time. Their plants couldn't be happier and neither could their proud parents. Village Farms searches the world over for the best tasting varieties that are bred using traditional cross breeding methods to grow in their all glass greenhouses. This means they are proud to say they are GMO Free. Inside their greenhouses their plants enjoy cozy temperatures year round and don't have to experience bad weather, disease or pests. Village Farms produce is pristine and bruise-free because they only touch the vegetables when they are carefully hand picked and packed at the peak of ripeness.
